From my hole in the wall...

By Chucky Church Mouse

You may remember that I told you when I first started writing these articles that I stowed away with the Burtons when they moved here. Man!...or should I say "Mouse"...do I have some stories I could tell! Bro. Doug likes to garden and just be outside in the yard (when the weather feels good). I remember something that really surprised me once.

There is an old saying, "bloom where you are planted." But have you ever heard a saying, "Grow, even when you are pulled up"? A while back, Linda's dad and mom came and helped the Burtons do some remodeling of a bathroom. Since they had to tap into the water line, Doug had to take out a flower bed that was filled with blooming Kalanchoes (I usually pronounce it "Kah-Lon-chos", but Bro. Doug says the real pronunciation is "Ka-lan-ko-es". Don't tell him, but I'm gonna keep on pronouncing it my way... anyway...he planted the plants in a temporary spot just to keep them alive. Boy was he surprised...the plants began to grow and bloom even better than before...so, naturally, he left them there. It was a whole lot easier than moving them again!

Much later (like 2-3 months) I was visiting my country mouse friends in his garage, and I noticed that he had left one of the plants in a bucket in the garage. I thought, "Oh rats! He missed one!" Was I ever surprised! The plant was kind of dry (obviously), but it had actually sprouted a little green at the top. This plant was growing in spite of a lack of water, and dirt. Now I don't recommend that you try this, but I do believe that there is a lesson to be learned here. When times get tough (and they will) if our roots are firmly planted in Jesus Christ, then we can survive and grow in Him. As a matter of fact, many times our growth is more prolific (that's a big word I learned from Bro Doug) when we have gone through trials. Now don't get me wrong...I don't want to go through trials, but it sure makes me feel better...to have a little peace...to know that he is gonna bring me through it.

In the 5th Chapter of Romans, the writer talks about trials producing perseverance which produces character which produces hope. Hang in there! Keep growing and you just might see some little sprouts of green in spite of your circumstances!

I'm glad you are here today. Hey bring someone with you next time.
